

VITT FACTOR ASSEMBLY FAQ'S

What makes your assemblies different from other youth programs?

Our assemblies focus on action-based, results-driven strategies that resonate with today's youth. Unlike traditional lectures, we engage students through relatable storytelling, hands-on activities, and challenges that encourage them to think on their feet and apply the skills immediately. We bridge the gap between motivation and real-life topics, so students leave with a clear sense of purpose and actionable steps they can take to improve their communication, confidence, and leadership.

What topics do you cover in your assemblies?

We tailor each assembly to the needs of the school, but some popular topics include:

- Building meaningful connections and friendships
- Understanding how to start, expand and start a conversation with an interactive activity
- Overcoming social isolation in the digital age
- Leadership and becoming the CEO of your life
- Handling setbacks and maintaining motivation

These topics align with the challenges kids face today, especially after the pandemic and the rise of social media.

How do you engage students and keep their attention?

We combine high-energy delivery, humor, and real-world examples that are relatable to teens. My age helps me connect with students on their level, while my expertise ensures the content is impactful. We use interactive exercises, role-playing, and moments of reflection to keep the students actively involved. This isn't just a speech—it's an experience that students will talk about long after the assembly ends.

What age groups do you work with?

We work with all ages and the content is tailored for each age group. Each presentation is customized to fit the maturity and interests of the audience.

Can you accommodate a specific theme or message we want to promote?

Absolutely! If your school has a theme, such as anti-bullying, leadership development, or career readiness, we can tailor the presentation to align with those goals. I'll work closely with your team to ensure the message reinforces what your students need most.

How long is the assembly, and what does it include?

Assemblies typically run between 45 minutes to 1 hour, depending on your schedule. Each assembly includes an engaging talk, interactive activities, and a Q&A session if time allows. We also provide follow-up resources or challenges students can work on to keep the momentum going.

What outcomes can we expect from your assembly?

Students will leave feeling inspired and equipped with practical tools to improve their communication, confidence, and connections with peers. Schools often report higher engagement, better peer relationships, and a noticeable shift in student attitudes after our assemblies.

Have you worked with schools similar to ours?

Yes! I've worked with schools across various demographics, from urban to rural areas. Whether your students face challenges with social skills, confidence, or leadership, our programs are designed to meet them where they are and empower them to grow.

What is the cost, and what does it cover?

Our pricing is competitive and reflects the value of an impactful, customized assembly experience. The fee includes a pre-event consultation to understand your school's needs, the assembly itself, and follow-up resources for students and staff. I'm happy to discuss budget considerations to find a solution that works for you.

How do you measure the success of your assemblies?

We measure success through immediate feedback from students and staff, and the visible energy shift in the room. Many schools report noticeable improvements in student interactions and mindset over the following weeks. I'm happy to collaborate with you on ways to track long-term impact as well.
